JEFFERSON MAY VOTE ROAD BONDS

LAW COMPELS BOARD TO DROP HALF OF TAX.

COUNTY COURT TO SEE BRIDGE NEEDS AGAIN

Members and Surveyor J. E. Reece Plan Trip to Monroe and Hughes Wednesday—Floods Do Damage.

The county court met in regular session this morning to consider routine business, to be followed by a tour of either Jefferson township or Monroe township to inspect bridge needs. The court will continue the inspection until all townships are visited and the various bridge needs determined.

The court will have less money with which to build bridges this year than last year, by about $12,000. The repair of several bridges over the county, damaged by the recent floods, also will take part of that fund. Three of the temporary frame bridges across the Nodaway river drainage ditch are in need of repair. Two of them are near Burlington Junction and the other south of there.

The approaches to each have been washed away or undermined by the wash of the water. Several other county bridges also were damaged.

Hughes Wants Bridge Aid.

A delegation of twelve men of Hughes township conferred with the county court this afternoon relative to the need of county aid in the repair and construction of six bridges and culverts in that township this morning. The representatives were John Gier, trustee; Sherman Hefflin, William Popham, James Luville, James Lyle, Frank Lyle, Samuel Lyle, Henry Anderson, George Gresson, Don Baublitz, John Halist and Earl Halist.

Hugh McDonald and W. S. Woods, blacksmith, also appeared before the county court relative to building a bridge east of Skidmore on the main road between that town and Maryville, which was destroyed by the recent floods.

The county court proposes to visit both Monroe and Hughes townships Wednesday if the weather permits.

Drop Half of Special Tax.

A special election to vote on a proposition to issue $30,000 in bonds for special bridge and road improvement in Jefferson township may be held this summer, according to a letter received by the county court from Father Placid there. Owing to the present law status, it has been decided by the township board there to drop half of the 50 cent special levy recently made, so that some other means of getting more bridge money, is now in progress.

The voting of bonds is about the only avenue left open to them. It is the plan of Father Placid, however, to use the bond money differently than has been done in other townships where such moves were made. He proposes to vote the entire issue at the same time, but to so regulate it that only one-tenth could be used each year for ten years.

Would It Be Spent Properly?

The county court believes, however, some trouble would be experienced in selling the bonds that way, unless by special arrangements and to local parties.

In his letter to the county court Father Placid says he fears that by voting on bonds the voters will fear there will be too much interest to pay and that too much will not be spent properly.

In an open letter Father Placid says in part:

The road bonds are the only thing now. I leave it to others to agitate this matter in this township, if some wish to do so.

The road bonds have many good, but also a few bad features. The worst of them is not the interest which they would bear. This would be more than paid by the aid which we would receive from the state, and by the benefits which we would derive from better roads. We might also have to face some graft in case the bonds were voted.

But I believe that such could be prevented to a great extent and perhaps entirely eliminated. The main trouble in my estimation would be that the bonds would not reach far enough to satisfy our people.

To use the bonds exclusively for constructing cement culverts in this township would not give us the roads which we need. To use the money partly for concrete work and partly for temporarily improving our roads would again be a waste of money, so far as the latter part is concerned.

Father Placid proposes that the petition for the election be circulated at once, so that an election can be held in August and the bonds sold next fall and winter, so that actual improvement work may begin early next spring or even partly late next fall.

FEARED BURGLAR IN HOUSE

So Frank Allen, Near Graham, Called Sheriff and Police—Bloodhounds Accompanied.

The combination of a window falling in, and a cat's stealthy step in the kitchen at 10 o'clock last night, resulted in a bad scare for Frank Allen and family, two miles east of Graham, and the call for Sheriff Edwin Wallace, Chief of Police E. C. Moberly and his bloodhounds. At least it is the supposition of the officers that there was no real burglar as Allen believed.

Anyway Allen says he awakened soon after retiring last night, at the sound of a stealthy like step in the kitchen, followed by a crash as though someone had fallen over a chair. He gave another look and there standing in the light of a window was a man with a club the size of a ball bat in his hand.

Hired Man Not Murdered.

That is the last Allen saw of the "intruder." Hastily arising, he snatched up his wife and children and fled to a neighbors, where the call for the officers here was made. In the mean time, they returned near the home and failing to awaken the hired man, asleep upstairs over the kitchen, they at once opined that the "burglar" had, perhaps, raided the house and then murdered the employee.

When the officers arrived at midnight, they awakened the hired man, who said a window in his room had fallen in during the forepart of the night, but that is all he heard. An investigation revealed that the kitchen chair was still right side up and that no doors or windows had been opened.

The two bloodhounds taken along by Chief Moberly failed to pick up the trail of anyone, saving those there. Allen is afflicted with the heart disease slightly, and it was at first feared he would suffer from the scare. There were about twenty-five neighbors gathered at the Allen home, when the officers arrived.

PLAY CLASSY GAME

ALL-STARS LOSE 0 TO 1, BUT WENT TEN INNINGS.

TO IMPROVE GROUNDS

Bleachers Will Be Erected and Diamond Smoothed—St. Joseph Met Match—Athletics Next.

Classy base ball was served for full ten innings to a fair sized crowd of city bugs by the All-Star Federals at the new Federal park, west of the Normal park yesterday afternoon, and commendation for the playing of the locals, both in fielding and batting was heard quite profusely. It is true they went down to defeat, but that really couldn't be considered when it is noted that the score was only 1 to 0 in favor of the Rapids of St. Joseph. And that came in the tenth, of course.

It doesn't much matter to the crowd, as far as sportsmanship and team work counts, which side wins just so good base ball is dished out. That is what both teams did yesterday. The work was not alone that of the pitchers, though they did well 'tis true. Each player was on his toes and playing from start to finish.

To Improve Diamond.

The new diamond is somewhat bumpy yet and the accommodations for the fans are not just as nice as it might have been, but all that was forgotten yesterday in the All-Stars' initial game of the season at home. Fact is, so the managers say, an entirely new arrangement will greet the eyes of the bugs next Sunday, when they probably will play the Athletics of Joetown.

The diamond will be moved slightly to the north, the mounds and hills and crevices removed, the outer field mowed and the hay stacked and bleachers for the rooters will occupy a slightly place along the east side of the grounds.

The lone run for St. Joseph came in the tenth, after two were down. Stewart kicked up a single and fled to first, went to second on a steal and returned home on a double by Wowso. They also got a man on third in the ninth inning, but he died ignobly.

All-Stars Got to Thrid.

The All-Stars had one chance at scoring. It came in the middle of the game when Conley was advanced to the triple sack, only to die coming home on a put out at first.

The All-Stars line-up was: D. Carmichael, c; Tilson, 1b; Scott, 3b; Ernest, cf; Seckington, 2b; Bailey, rf; Wiles, lf; Conley, ss; Ham, p.

The line-up of the Rapids was: Madden, 2b; Miles, cf; Toole, 1b; Hays, rf; Garvey, ss; Blaley, c; Richter, lf; Stewart, 3b; Wowso, p.

The score:

Maryville0000000000—0 3 2

Rapids0000000001—1 5 3

BURLINGTON BEATS BARNARD.

Junction Base Ball Team Wins in 10 Inning Game by 3 to 2.

The Barnard base ball team, which defeated the week-day team here last Thursday 3 to 1 and the All-Stars previously 10 to 1, was defeated by Burlington Junction at that place yesterday afternoon by the score of 2 to 3. It went ten innings.

PROGRAM PLEASURES CROWD

First Christian Sunday School Children Present Attractive Entertainment.

One of the most attractive children's entertainments given in the city was presented last night by the little folks of the First Christian Sunday school, who gave "All for Japan," a missionary program of songs, drills, readings and various specialties, at the church.

The entertainment was given under the direction of Mrs. F. P. Robinson, who trained the children in their different parts of the program. The participants were dressed in costume, and the pulpit of the church was prettily decorated for the evening. An immense crowd attended and all were lavish in praise of the beauty of the entertainment and the splendid execution the children gave to their various numbers.

Sunday was Missionary day in the church calendar, and at the Sunday school hour 669 were present and a collection of $160 was taken. At this hour a specially prepared program was given in connection with the usual Bible study. At the hour of morning church service the pastor, the Rev. Robert Lyle Finch, gave an appropriate missionary sermon, and the choir, under the direction of Prof. H. B. Schuler, presented a splendid musical program.

Amara Surrendered With 2,000 Prisoners—Roumania in Crisis Over Stand—Bulgaria May Join, Too.

London, June 7.—The allies in their offensive on the Gallipoli peninsula captured and held two lines of Turkish trenches along a front of nearly three miles. In Mesopotamia, the British forces received from the Turks surrender of Amara and taken more than 2,000 prisoners, thirteen guns, a gunboat, barges and steamers. The pursuit of the Turks, who were dispersed into the marshes, continues.

Two battles are in progress in Galicia. The Russians have made a considerable advance on the lower reaches of the San and have driven the Austro-Germans back to the Lens river; while to the southwest of Lemberg the Austro-Germans are advancing, although the Russians are contesting every inch of the roads to the Galician capital, which is the objective of the Teutonic allies.

Reports From West Differ.

The region north of Arras remains the interesting point on the western front. Here the French claim to have gained more ground, and according to their report have repulsed very violent German counter attacks. The Germans, on the other hand, assert that they have repulsed French attacks.

The first important battle of the Italian campaign is raging for possession of Tolmino, where the Italians have met with the first serious opposition in their advances across the Austrian frontier.

Italian warships have been busy destroying cables and lighthouses in the Adriatic, and have again bombarded Monfalcone. There has also been some naval activity in the Baltic. Russian and German squadrons exchanging shots in the vicinity of the Gulf of Riga.

Roumania is going through a crisis similar to that experienced by Italy before the latter country entered the war. Those who favor neutrality and those who favor war held counter demonstrations at Bucharest and the political parties are getting into shape to put forward their views. The general opinion held in London is that Roumania will join the allies when Italy gives the word and that Bulgaria will follow its lead.

With the king of Greece suffering a relapse and in a serious condition, no change in the attitude of that country is expected immediately.

CROWDED HAINES' STORE

First Anniversary Sale, Advertised Exclusively in Democrat-Forum, Attracts Hundreds of Shoppers.

The first anniversary sale of the Haines store today drew a regular metropolitan bargain sale crowd of eager buyers. For some time before the doors of the store were open women stood in front of the store and waited in neighboring shops. From the opening of the sale at 9 o'clock the sales force was crowded to its capacity.

The sale, which was for today only, marks the first year of the establishment of the store here by Mr. Harvey Haines. It is one of several stores owned by the Haines brothers. It was said by many to have drawn the largest crowd ever seen in Maryville at a special sale. An extra sales force was added to help handle the steady line of buyers. The colors of the store, red and white, predominated in the decorations for the occasion.

Advertising for the Haines store was carried exclusively in The Democrat-Forum. A number of the women carried copies of the large detailed ad which appeared in the Friday issue of The Democrat-Forum.

The growth of the Haines store during its first year has demanded an enlargement of quarters. This week workmen will begin remodeling the west room of the store, which heretofore has been a warehouse, and this will be used exclusively for the ready-to-wear department. The fitting rooms will also be rebuilt. When completed the salesroom of the store will practically be double. Mr. Haines leased the second floor of the building for warehouses and moved the reserve stock there a couple of months ago in anticipation of the remodeling to be done on the main floor.

Mr. Haines traveled extensively through Missouri and Iowa looking over the territory before he decided upon Maryville. This morning, in speaking of his year's residence and business in this city, Mr. Haines says he is more than satisfied that he selected Maryville.

And Decker says he is well satisfied. Mr. Decker will return to Oklahoma, where he has oil interests, but Mrs. Decker will remain for her health during the summer.

She has leased apartments in the South Methodist flats.

These trains had been discontinued for the past ten days, owing to the damage to track and bridges by the high water near Chillicothe.

PLAN 2 TRIPS TO BOOST GUINEA DAY

CIVIC CLUB ADVERTISES SPECIAL SALES THIS WEEK.

FREE CONCERTS AND SHOWS TO VISITORS

Merchants Will Offer Bargains Beside Entertainment—Tour East Side Wednesday, West Thursday.

The first of the two get-acquainted trips of the Commercial club and merchants over Nodaway county planned for this week, will be taken over the east side of the county Wednesday instead of tomorrow, as first planned, on account of the rain last night. The trips will be especially and primarily to boost Guinea day here Wednesday, June 16, when special sales will be put on by all merchants. It likewise will give the boosters a chance to get acquainted with the county as units and to learn the first names of many of their patrons.

The boosters will leave from in front of the Commercial club room about 9 o'clock Wednesday morning. The first stop will be at Pickering. They will then go, in order, to Hopkins, Gaynor City, Orrsburg, Parnell, Ravenwood, Clyde, Old Conception, Conception Junction, Guilford, Barnard and Arkoe, then home.

They will probably stop at Parnell for lunch. The Maryville Commercial band will accompany the boosters and furnish a short concert at each town while the Maryville patriots will be themselves around and get acquainted and tell what will be what here on Guinea day, a week later. It is expected that about twenty cars will be in the tour.

On the second day, next Thursday, the trip will be to the westward. Starting at the same time and place as on the initial trip, the Maryville hustlers, will go first to Wilcox, then to Clearmont, Elmo, Dawson, Burlington Junction, Quitman, Skidmore, Maitland, Graham and then home.

Dinner will probably taken at Burlington Junction. The band will also be in evidence the second day and music galore will be furnished. The cars each day will be appropriately decorated to advertise "Guinea Day."

Free Attractions, Guinea Day.

It might incidentally be announced too that band concerts will be furnished on the courthouse lawn all that day, and both the Empire and the Fern theatre will give free shows from 2:30 to 4:30 o'clock that afternoon. Unusually good shows are being arranged for both that afternoon and night.

While the merchants will pay particular attention to dollar sales that day, there also be unusual bargains at all other prices, down to a cent, it is announced. It will be a day, when not only "your dollar does its duty," as the slogan signifies, but every cent as well.

BREAKS LEG IN BALL GAME

Albert Binter, Clyde, Collides With Opponent—Plan Benefit Game for Medical Attention.

While running back to third base after an attempted run home, Albert Binter had both bones of his left leg broken above the knee yesterday afternoon in a collision with Marvel McGary, who was playing third base. The accident occurred during a game between the teams of Clyde and Conception Junction, at Clyde. McGary was playing on the Conception team and Binter for Clyde.

The two teams plan to play a benefit game next Sunday afternoon with which to raise a fund whereby Binter's medical attention might be paid for.

GOING ON SIX.

The Democrat-Forum is now five years old and "going on" six. It came into the world with some discouragements and with heavy burdens, but with a definite determination to be, and to grow up and continue to be, an honest, straightforward newspaper. It has been the purpose of its publishers to make it serve the best interests of the public as they see them. They have no fault to find with those who honestly differ with them, realizing the good that sometimes comes of honest differences of opinion. Thanks to a kind and generous public, it is now a reasonably healthy youngster. It has long since discarded its swaddling clothes and feels its right to be considered in the class with short pants and copper-toed boots. The following tells the story: It began June 4, 1910, with a circulation taken over from the daily Republican of 1,600; in September, 1911, it had 1,920; in September, 1912, it had 2,155; in July, 1913, it had 2,340; in April, 1914, it had 2,678, and in April, 1915, it had enjoyed an average for the previous six months of 3,056.

WORRIES OWNERS OF SILOS.

Peculiar Disease in Silage Causes Farmers to Write to State University for Aid.

For the last three or four years Missouri farmers who own silos have noticed the growth of peculiar red mold in the silage. In some years it has appeared only in small quantities, but in others it has appeared at a depth of as much as fifteen feet and has infected areas two or three feet square, often adhering to the sides of the silos. Several farmers have written to the College of Agriculture of the University of Missouri, asking what the cause of this mold is and what to do to stop its ravages.

Experiments conducted in the laboratory of the department of Botany show that the growth does not occur without the presence of free oxygen. Its occurrence in the lower depth of silos is probably due to the fact that the silage when packed was not sufficiently tramped.

Another factor which has some influence on the presence of molds in silage is that of moisture. Very often silage is put away too dry. Molds develop in much greater abundance where the silage is only slightly moist. The Chinese people use a red fungus—the mold of which corresponds to the red mold of silage—in manufacturing red rice, a substance used as a food coloring and a beverage. The fact that the Chinese do use the pigment in preparing a beverage tends to show that the fungus is not poisonous. Many Missouri farmers thought that the mold was causing death among stock. The mold has appeared in the silage on the farm used by the College of Agriculture, but it is thought that no deaths have occurred among stock because of this growth. The mold has also appeared in other states.

Expert Advice to Automobile Owners.

What is the cause of motors failing to pick up, misfire, etc., after slowing down for a short distance?

Quite often loading up of fuel in the inlet passages causes this condition, but more frequently poor carburetor adjustment. A carburetor, especially one with two jets, can be adjusted for quick pick up.

I have a four cylinder motor in which the crank shaft is slightly out of alignment. Is it practical to use this shaft as it is?

If the crankshaft is out of alignment so that it is noticeable in engine operation, it will pay to have the shaft repaired. If that is possible, or have a new shaft installed. You can overcome the difficulty for awhile by taking up the misalignment in the bearings, but with the crank shaft itself sprung, the trouble will return.

Should the use of hard water, containing lime, in the radiator of a car be avoided?

Water containing lime should be avoided. Use rain water instead. Water with any considerable amount of salts, whether soluble or insoluble, should not be used.

Under ordinary conditions about what length of service in miles should the three speed selective type of gearbox give before needing replacement or becoming excessively noisy?

A gear set usually operates for more than 10,000 miles before it needs attention, and many have been run more than this without requiring more than a change of oil.

When my car is standing and the engine is running with the brakes set there is a knock in the gears. What causes this?

You state that there is a knock in the gears when the motor is running idle, but you do not say whether you mean the timing gears or the gears in the gear box. If it is the timing gears that are making the noise the trouble must be caused either by the gears being loose on their shafts or else the bearings are loose. In order to find where the trouble is it will be necessary to go over the motor. If the knock is in the gears in the gear box it must be caused by loose bearings.

Will you please tell me whether in making connection between two wires it is preferable to splice the wires or loop the ends and hook the loops together?

Splicing the wires has the advantage of making a joint that is compact. Such a joint takes up very little more space than the wire itself, and a spliced joint is also very easy to insulate, as it can be very readily wrapped with tape. This joint makes a good electrical connection and also is more flexible than the loop type. The main advantage of the loop joint is that it is not so easily pulled apart.

Is the amount of current consumed for ignition constant or do different engine speeds or different road conditions cause it to vary?

The consumption of current is proportional to the motor speed. For instance, at 600 revolutions twice as many sparks are required as at 300. However, no more current is required to produce a single spark at 600 or 3,000 for that matter than is required at 300.

My car gives me a lot of trouble through overheating. I am unable to run over eight or ten miles before the water boils in the radiator. The timing is right, the fan works properly, also the pump. There is no obstruction in water lines, and there seems to be nothing wrong in the timing or water circulation. The magneto is advanced as far as possible and I am using a lean mixture. What is the matter?

You have named practically all the conditions that might cause overheating, yet since the trouble is still there it would seem that the search has not been thorough enough. Overheating may be due to a defect in the cooling system, rich mixture, retarded spark, improper lubrication or incorrect valve timing and possibly a slipping clutch or excessive friction in the chassis. Under the first head there are several places where there might be difficulty. First determine that the water is circulating properly by emptying enough water out of the system to uncover the return connection to the top of the radiator. Then with the motor running note whether the water flows freely. If it does not, fill the radiator full of water and run the motor until the water boils. Then feel the various parts of the cooling system, noting the relative temperatures. For instance, if there is an obstruction in the return water header, such as a piece of loose rubber, the water on one side of the obstruction will be hot and on the other cool. Similarly, if the pump is not operating, due to a broken vane or a sheared pin that holds the vane to the shaft, then the return header will be very hot, while the lower part of the radiator and the connection from thence to the pump will be cool. If the radiator is clogged up, the top should be very hot and the bottom cooler than usually. It may be that the fan belt is too loose.

TO SHOW FAR-FAMED COMEDY.

"Tillie's Punctured Romance" Will Be Shown at the Empire Tomorrow Night.

The much exploited Keystone comedy, "Tillie's Punctured Romance," with Marie Dressler taking the leading role, will be shown at the Empire theater tomorrow night. It showed to 40,000 at the Willis Wood, Kansas City, recently. It is a six-reel laugh producer with Charles Chaplin, Mabel Normand and others assisting Miss Dressler.

The picture is beautifully staged. "Tillie's Punctured Romance" tells how Tillie is wooed by Charlie, and is given the mitten in favor of Mabel. When Charlie reads through the death of an uncle, Tillie is heir to three million he encompassed a hasty marriage before Tillie gets the news. Then it develops that the uncle is very much alive.

Before the finish of Charlie all sorts of tempestuous things come to pass. An auto plunges into the ocean, the Keystone cops have the chase of their gay young lives, and Tillie, after several tedious lifts and immersions, is finally landed on the pier. Mabel and Tillie make up, and Charlie is led away to durance vile.

A MISSOURI SETTLEMENT IN WYOMING.

J. A. Carmichael of Dwyer, Wyo., in writing to renew his subscription to The Democrat-Forum, says:

We have many people out here from northwest Missouri, and especially from Nodaway county. The spring has been cool and at times it looked gloomy. On May 18 and 19 it snowed, but soon melted, and on May 20 we had quite a freeze, but nothing was harmed except the early gardens.

We have the best grass this country has had for several years and all kinds of crops look fine. We raise wheat, oats, rye and all small grains that grow in the middle western states. We had a good crop of corn last year and thousands of acres are planted this year and it looks well now.

We now have nearly fifty families in our Missouri settlement and expect seventy-five by fall. There are still some good government claims not taken not far from the railroad and near the timber.

We are located in Platte county. Wheatland is our county seat, a town of 1,200 people, with good schools and churches. We are near Dwyer, a new town on the Colorado & Southern railroad. My domicile is only a half mile from the station. The latch string is on the outside for any Missouri wanderer that may call, and I am always glad to give any information to inquiring friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde C. Trapp and family of Graham left Saturday for a Western visit. They will visit Los Angeles, San Diego, Portland, Seattle, Spokane, Pocatello, Idaho; Salt Lake City, Colorado Springs and Denver, At San Jose, Cal., Mr. Trapp will visit his brothers, and at Walla Walla, Wash., another brother.

Mrs. Saunders Very Ill.

Mrs. James H. Saunders, who has been seriously ill for several months, has been in a precarious condition since Friday. Her condition today is extremely critical.

To Visit at Pettit Home.

Mrs. J. W. Pettit of San Diego, Cal., who has been visiting relatives in Wisconsin, will arrive in Maryville tonight to visit her son, Roy Pettit, and his wife.

Weather Favors "Ergotism."

That the rainy days of late May and early June have varying results in the world of bugdom and the fungous families is evident from a warning the Missouri State Board of Agriculture waves (a la red flag) on authority of State Veterinarian Dr. D. F. Luckey. Doctor Luckey, now recognized nationally as an expert on the diseases of live stock, (cattle in particular), is always on the alert to protect our stockmen, and on finding the conditions favorable to trouble he pleads for extreme caution in these words:

"The indications are that ergotism may be more or less prevalent among Missouri cattle in the near future. Those who are pasturing grasses of any kind that have headed out must look out for this trouble. It is most likely to occur on bluegrass pastures especially those where the grass is rank and is forming seed.

"During wet weather, like we have been having, the seed grass is apt to become diseased and develop a fungous growth in the place of the healthy seed. The grains of ergot, when they appear, can be found scattered through the heads of the grass and appear as slender, black bodies—considerably larger than the bluegrass seed. Their discovery in a pasture requires a very close examination.

"A sufficient quantity of ergot taken in with the food causes a contraction of the small arteries and tends to shut off the blood supply to the extremities. Lameness is noticed first. In

NOTICE TO PAVING CONTRACTORS.

Sealed proposals will be received at the office of the city clerk of the city of Maryville, Missouri, until 7:30 o'clock p. m. June 8, 1915, for the grading, paving, guttering, curbing and otherwise improving the following named streets: Thompson, Mulberry and Twelfth, with bituminous concrete pavement and concrete curbs.

The estimated amount of work to be done on Thompson street is as follows:
Excavations, 1,300 cubic yards.
Cement curbing, 2,600 lineal feet.
Cypress headers, 264 lineal feet.
Bituminous concrete paving, 3,940 square yards.

And the estimated amount of work to be done on Mulberry and Twelfth streets is as follows:

Excavation, 1,365 cubic yards.
Cement curbing, 2,600 lineal feet.
Cypress headers, 240 lineal feet.
Bituminous concrete pavement, 3,775 square yards.

A certified check on a Maryville bank for an amount equal to five per cent of the bid, made payable to the city clerk, must accompany the proposal.

Plans and specifications are on file at the offices of the city clerk and the city engineer. Copies of the same and proposal blanks will be furnished to prospective buyers upon application.

F. L. FLYNT,
City Engineer.

the advanced stages, an angry-looking sore appears circling the fetlock. In extreme cases, a toe, or even the whole foot, may break off.

"Those who are pasturing bluegrass, red-top, or other grasses which have headed out, should frequently examine the heads of the grass to ascertain whether the ergot is developing. Watch cattle and other animals closely for symptoms of lameness. On the first appearance of any lameness, change the animals to another pasture.

"Run a mower over the pasture and keep stock off of it until a new growth of grass comes out where the cattle can get it without eating the heads that have been cut down. If the rainy weather continues, this trouble is almost sure to occur in a large number of pastures and it will pay well to run a mower over the grass, cutting off the heads, before the ergot is formed. This will be almost necessary where only one pasture is available.

If ergotism appears in a herd, promptly move the stock and give each animal a full dose of purgative. For cattle, use epsom salts, giving mature animals one and one-half to two pounds, and to yearlings three-fourths of a pound. Dissolve the salts in a liberal quantity of water."

How are platinum points fastened to screws of a magnet?

One method is to hard solder the points in place. The first step is to cut two small slots at right angles in the end of the two members carrying the points. Then by the aid of the brass solder the points are fastened in place.

Kindly tell me something about long and short intake manifolds. Which is the better?

The short manifold usually is better, showing superior results at low speeds with wide open throttle and equally good results at high speeds. When the throttle is wide open at low speeds, a condition existing when the car is on a heavy pull, the liquid gasoline in the manifold must be lifted a greater height in the long manifold, and hence there is a chance of loading up, due to the liquid fuel dropping back against the throttle. The condition really is caused by the air velocity being insufficient to carry the fuel to the motor. With a short manifold the fuel need not be lifted very high, and hence there will be no loading up or collecting of gasoline in the manifold.

What is the life of the average storage battery when used for starting?

A starting and lighting battery will last for three to four years, if properly cared for. Each year the battery will need new separators.

How can I change a low compression motor to a high compression one?

The compression may be raised by several methods. It is hardly advisable to make this change, because your motor has been designed for a certain compression, and if you raise it, say ten pounds, you will submit the cylinders to a greater strain than they were designed for, the pressures on the cylinder walls will be greater and the wear on the bearings more. If your motor is not giving sufficient power you should find out what is the matter with it rather than raise the compression.

Probably the best method is to rivet a plate to the top of the piston or the cylinder, whichever is more convenient. Placing the plate on the piston adds weight to the reciprocating masses, while if it is attached to the cylinder head there is danger of interference with the flow of the gases in and out. In either case be sure that there is clearance enough between the plate and the cylinder to allow the plate to be put into place. If the plate is attached to the piston it should be made of aluminum for the sake of lightness.

Lengthening the connecting rods or increasing the crankshaft throws will also increase the compression. But neither of these methods is as simple or as cheap as the first one suggested.

Expert Advice to Automobile Owners.

My car begins to lag when about half way up a hill. Does the slanting position of the car interfere with a proper supply of gasoline to the carburetor?

It is not likely that your trouble is due to the position of the tank, but it is probably caused by dirt in the feed pipe. The dirt does not prevent the flow entirely, but reduces it so that not enough gasoline is supplied to the float chamber to satisfy the extra demand put upon the car when it is climbing a hill. Disconnect the feed pipe at the carburetor and note whether the flow is free; if not, remove the pipe and clean it with a wire. If the trouble still persists adjust the carburetor to give a richer mixture. The gasoline flow, due to the low position of the tank, should not be affected except on a steep hill. If you feel, however, that the flow is not sufficient you might install a tank holding about a pint directly in front and slightly above the carburetor. This tank is merely connected in the line, has no valves and is only a reservoir, but with sufficient capacity to carry the car over the longest hills, even though the supply of fuel were cut off.

Can you give me some information as to automobile valve timing?

The timing of a motor depends on whether the greatest torque or twisting effort is wanted at low or high speeds and whether it is desirable to have a silent motor. For instance, if a motor with a particularly good torque at low speed is wanted, then the exhaust opening should be delayed more than usual so that the expansive force of the gas will be exerted to the utmost. On the other hand, if the motor is to develop a maximum torque at a high speed it is better to open the exhaust valve earlier so as to give the gas plenty of time to flow out. The reduction in back pressure due to this more than compensates for the small amount of expansive energy that is thus thrown away.

Exhaust closure should occur at dead center or slightly after. On a low speed motor it would be all right to close the exhaust valve right on dead center, but if this were done on a motor that had a maximum speed of say 2,000 revolutions or more the scavenging of the cylinder would not be as complete as if the closing were delayed a few degrees. The reason for this is simple. When the gas is flowing out through the exhaust valve at the high speed that is obtained when the motor is running at this rate it has a perceptible amount of momentum, although its actual mass is very small. Therefore the tendency is for the column of gas to keep on flowing when the piston reaches upper dead center. This action naturally helps to suck out a little gas after the piston has ceased to force it out.

The opening of the inlet valve should take place shortly after the exhaust valve closes, its exact point of opening depending on whether the designer considers it best to begin to fill the cylinder with a rush. In the former case the valve is made to open at about top dead center, and in the latter case the opening is delayed possibly as much as twenty degrees. If the opening is delayed a partial vacuum is formed in the cylinder, due to the fact that the piston moves out and expands the gas below atmosphere. Then when the inlet valve is finally opened the charge rushes in to fill this vacuum. This action is believed to give better carburetion by a great many designers.

The closing of the intake valve, just as in the case of the exhaust, depends on the speed of the motor. If the momentum of the column of rushing gas is to be considered then the opening is delayed so that the gas, instead of instantly stopping its flow when the piston reaches bottom center, keeps on flowing, due to its inertia, and in this way crowds in a bigger charge. If a good power output at high speed is to be obtained then the closure of the intake must be delayed a few degrees.

NAVAL ACADEMY SCANDAL

Daniels Appoints Court of Inquiry to Probe Charges Against Midshipmen.

Washington, June 7.—Following a conference with President Wilson, Secretary Daniels appointed a court of inquiry to investigate charges that seven midshipmen at the Annapolis naval academy had secured advance information on examinations.

The court will make a sweeping inquiry, however, into reports that other midshipmen and possibly some instructors were involved in the irregularities. No attempt was made at the navy department to minimize the gravity of the situation.

WILSON WILL NOT MODIFY STAND

President to Leave No Room to Doubt Meaning of Note.

MAY HAVE A Milder TONE.

Delays Cabling of Reply to Germany In Order to Make Its Contents Most Explicit—Germans Believe Way Opened For Understanding.

Washington, June 7.—President Wilson's note to Germany will be cabled to Ambassador Gerard tomorrow, according to word from the White House.

The only reason for the delay, it was said, was the president's desire to make the phraseology of the note so explicit and unmistakable as to leave no room for doubt or further argument concerning the position of the United States government—that the right of search must be exercised and passengers and crew of unarmed ships on which neutrals are voyaging transferred to a place of safety before any prize is destroyed by a belligerent warship.

Officials familiar with the contents of the note and said it was a forceful reiteration of the principles expressed by the United States in its note of Feb. 10, when the American government announced that it could not admit the right of the German admiralty's proclamation of a war zone to infringe in any way upon the right of neutrals to travel anywhere on the high seas on peaceful merchantmen and that the German government would be held to a "strict accountability" for any violations of American rights.

May Have Milder Tone.

Suggestions have been made to the president that the recent note from Germany offering regrets and reparation for the torpedoing by mistake of the Gulfight be cited in the note as proof of the American contention that without visit and search the identity of a vessel cannot be established and the lives of neutrals safeguarded.

The commander of the German submarine which attacked the Gulfight reported that he did not see the American flag until "the moment of firing the shot." Whether this idea will be included is not known.

In German quarters the optimism which has been apparent since Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, talked with President Wilson continues, the impression being given that the road to an understanding was much clearer than it had been since the Lusitania was destroyed.

DANGER OF TYPHOID FEVER

M. U. Professor Says Recent Floods and Hot Season Make Precautions Necessary.

The floods which have recently done so much damage in various parts of Missouri will increase the danger of typhoid fever, which has been quite prevalent in Missouri for the last two years, according to Doctor M. P. Ravenel, professor of bacteriology and preventive medicine at the University of Missouri.

Doctor Ravenel also says that the season when typhoid is prevalent is coming on, and he warns everyone to take precaution against this disease. "Typhoid fever is always caused by carelessness or negligence in regard to the disposal of sewage from human beings," said Doctor Ravenel. "It is everywhere a disease for the health authorities to deal with, and prevent by insuring a pure water supply and the proper disposal of the sewage."

However, we have another safeguard which has given remarkable results—anti-typhoid vaccination. This consists of three injections which are given at intervals of ten days. There is but little discomfort attending the injections and the protection is almost absolute. In the United States Army last year, consisting of more than 90,000 men, there was only one case of typhoid in a vaccinated soldier and in our army and navy, consisting of practically 120,000 men, there were only nine cases of typhoid fever in 1913, a result which has not been attained anywhere else in the world. Several of these cases have occurred in the recruits who had not yet completed their vaccination. The vaccine is manufactured and standardized in the laboratories of the Department of Preventive Medicine of the University of Missouri, and is sent free to any registered physician in the state. Directions are sent with each package.

LAW COMPELS BOARD TO DROP HALF OF TAX.

COUNTY COURT TO SEE BRIDGE NEEDS AGAIN

Members and Surveyor J. E. Reece Plan Trip to Monroe and Hughes Wednesday—Floods Do Damage.

The county court met in regular session this morning to consider routine business, to be followed by a tour of either Jefferson township or Monroe township to inspect bridge needs. The court will continue the inspection until all townships are visited and the various bridge needs determined.

The court will have less money with which to build bridges this year than last year, by about $12,000. The repair of several bridges over the county, damaged by the recent floods, also will take part of that fund. Three of the temporary frame bridges across the Nodaway river drainage ditch are in need of repair. Two of them are near Burlington Junction and the other south of there.

The approaches to each have been washed away or undermined by the wash of the water. Several other county bridges also were damaged.

Hughes Wants Bridge Aid.

A delegation of twelve men of Hughes township conferred with the county court this afternoon relative to the need of county aid in the repair and construction of six bridges and culverts in that township this morning. The representatives were John Gex, trustee; Sherman Heflin, William Popham, James Linville, James Lyle, Frank Lyle, Samuel Lyle, Henry Anderson, George Greason, Don Baublitz, John Halst and Earl Halst.

Hugh McDonald and W. S. Woods, blacksmith, also appeared before the county court relative to building a bridge east of Skidmore on the main road between that town and Maryville, which was destroyed by the recent floods.

The county court proposes to visit both Monroe and Hughes townships Wednesday if the weather permits.

Drop Half of Special Tax.

A special election to vote on a proposition to issue $30,000 in bonds for special bridge and road improvement in Jefferson township may be held this summer, according to a letter received by the county court from Father Placid there. Owing to the present law status, it has been decided by the township board there to drop half of the 50 cent special levy recently made, so that some other means of getting more bridge money, is now in progress.

The voting of bonds is about the only avenue left open to them. It is the plan of Father Placid, however, to use the bond money differently than has been done in other townships where such moves were made. He proposes to vote the entire issue at the same time, but to so regulate it that only one-tenth could be used each year for ten years.

Would It Be Spent Properly?

The county court believes, however, some trouble would be experienced in selling the bonds that way, unless by special arrangements and to local parties.

In his letter to the county court Father Placid says he fears that by voting on bonds the voters will fear there will be too much interest to pay and that too much will not be spent properly.

In an open letter Father Placid says in part:

The road bonds are the only thing now. I leave it to others to agitate this matter in this township, if some wish to do so.

The road bonds have many good, but also a few bad features. The worst of them is not the interest which they would bear. This would be more than paid by the aid which we would receive from the state, and by the benefits which we would derive from better roads. We might also have to face some graft in case the bonds were voted.

But I believe that such could be prevented to a great extent and perhaps entirely eliminated. The main trouble in my estimation would be that the bonds would not reach far enough to satisfy our people.

To use the bonds exclusively for constructing cement culverts in this township would not give us the roads which we need. To use the money partly for concrete work and partly for temporarily improving our roads would again be a waste of money, so far as the latter part is concerned.

Father Placid proposes that the petition for the election be circulated at once, so that an election can be held in August and the bonds sold next fall and winter, so that actual improvement work may begin early next spring or even partly late next fall.

FEARED BURGLAR IN HOUSE

The combination of a window falling in, and a cat's stealthy step in the kitchen at 10 o'clock last night, resulted in a bad scare for Frank Allen and family, two miles east of Graham, and the call for Sheriff Edwin Wallace, Chief of Police E. C. Moberly and his bloodhounds. At least it is the supposition of the officers that there was no real burglar as Allen believed.

Anyway Allen says he awakened soon after retiring last night, at the sound of a stealthy like step in the kitchen, followed by a crash as though someone had fallen over a chair. He gave another look and there standing in the light of a window was a man with a club the size of a ball bat in his hand.

Hired Man Not Murdered.

That is the last Allen saw of the "intruder." Hastily arising, he snatched up his wife and children and fled to a neighbors, where the call for the officers here was made. In the mean time, they returned near the home and failing to awaken the hired man, asleep upstairs over the kitchen, they at once opined that the "burglar" had perhaps raided the house and then murdered the employee.

When the officers arrived at midnight, they awakened the hired man, who said a window in his room had fallen in during the forepart of the night, but that is all he heard. An investigation revealed that the kitchen chair was still right side up and that no doors or windows had been opened.

The two bloodhounds taken along by Chief Moberly failed to pick up the trail of anyone, saving those there. Allen is afflicted with the heart disease slightly, and it was at first feared he would suffer from the scare. There were about twenty-five neighbors gathered at the Allen home, when the officers arrived.

Mrs. Glaze is survived by her husband, to whom she was married March 1, 1869, in Jefferson county, Ind., and two children. The children are Mrs. Samuel Fisher, living northwest of the city, and Dr. George Glaze, a dentist of Craig, Mo.

In the fall of 1882 Mr. and Mrs. Glaze and their family came to Nodaway county and settled on a farm, where they remained until 1904, Mr. Glaze at that time purchasing the North Mulberry street property where he and his wife since resided.

March 1, 1910, Mr. and Mrs. Glaze celebrated their golden wedding anniversary, spending the day at their home, surrounded by their children and their families and a large number of friends.

PLAY CLASSY GAME

ALL-STARS LOSE 0 TO 1, BUT WENT TEN INNINGS.

TO IMPROVE GROUNDS

Bleachers Will Be Erected and Diamond Smoothed—St. Joseph Met Match—Athletics Next.

Classy base ball was served for full ten innings to a fair sized crowd of city bugs by the All-Star Federals at the new Federal park, west of the Normal park yesterday afternoon, and commendation for the playing of the locals, both in fielding and batting was heard quite profusely. It is true they went down to defeat, but that really couldn't be considered when it is noted that the score was only 1 to 0 in favor of the Rapids of St. Joseph. And that came in the tenth, of course.

It doesn't much matter to the crowd, as far as sportsmanship and team work counts, which side wins just so good base ball is dished out. That is what both teams did yesterday. The work was not alone that of the pitchers, though they did well 'tis true. Each player was on his toes and playing from start to finish.

To Improve Diamond.

The new diamond is somewhat bumpy yet and the accommodations for the fans are not just as nice as it might have been, but all that was forgotten yesterday in the All-Stars' initial game of the season at home. Fact is, so the managers say, an entirely new arrangement will greet the eyes of the bugs next Sunday when they probably will play the Athletics of Joctown.

The diamond will be moved slightly to the north, the mounds and hills and crevices removed, the outer field mowed and the hay stacked and bleachers for the rooters will occupy a slightly place along the east side of the grounds.

The lone run for St. Joseph came in the tenth, after two were down. Stewart kicked up a single and fled to first, went to second on a steal and returned home on a double by Wowso. They also got a man on third in the ninth inning, but he died ignobly.

All-Stars Got to Third.

The All-Stars had one chance at scoring. It came in the middle of the game when Conley was advanced to the triple sack, only to die coming home on a put out at first.

The All-Stars line-up was: D. Carmichael, cf; Tilton, 1b; Scott, 3b; Ernest, cf; Seckington, 2b; Bailey, rf; Wiles, lf; Conley, ss; Ham, p.

The line-up of the Rapids was: Madden, 2b; Miles, cf; Toole, 1b; Hays, rf; Garvey, ss; Blaley, c; Richter, lf; Stewart, 3b; Wowso, p.

The score:

First Christian Sunday School Children Present Attractive Entertainment.

One of the most attractive children's entertainments given in the city was presented last night by the little folks of the First Christian Sunday school, who gave "All for Japan," a missionary program of songs, drills, readings and various specialties, at the church. The entertainment was given under the direction of Mrs. F. P. Robinson, who trained the children in their different parts of the program. The participants were dressed in costume, and the pulpit of the church was prettily decorated for the evening. An immense crowd attended and all were lavish in praise of the beauty of the entertainment and the splendid execution the children gave to their various numbers.

Sunday was Missionary day in the church calendar, and at the Sunday school hour 669 were present and a collection of $160 was taken. At this hour a specially prepared program was given in connection with the usual Bible study. At the hour of morning church service the pastor, the Rev. Robert Lyle Finch, gave an appropriate missionary sermon, and the choir, under the direction of Prof. H. B. Schuler, presented a splendid musical program.

TURKS HAVE LOSS

ALLIES CAPTURE TRENCHES ON GALLIOLI PENINSULA.

Amara Surrendered With 2,000 Prisoners—Roumania in Crisis Over Stand—Bulgaria May Join, Too.

London, June 7.—The allies in their offensive on the Gallipoli peninsula captured and held two lines of Turkish trenches along a front of nearly three miles. In Mesopotamia the British forces received from the Turks surrender of Amara and taken more than 2,000 prisoners, thirteen guns, a gunboat, barges and steamers. The pursuit of the Turks, who were dispersed into the marshes, continues.

Two battles are in progress in Galicia. The Russians have made a considerable advance on the lower reaches of the San and have driven the Austro-Germans back to the Lenz river, while to the southwest of Lemberg the Austro-Germans are advancing, although the Russians are contesting every inch of the roads to the Galician capital, which is the objective of the Teutonic allies.

Reports From West Differ.

The region north of Arras remains the interesting point on the western front. Here the French claim to have gained more ground, and according to their report have repulsed very violent German counter attacks. The Germans, on the other hand, assert that they have repulsed French attacks.

The first important battle of the Italian campaign is racing for possession of Toimbo, where the Italians have met with the first serious opposition in their advances across the Austrian frontier.

Italian warships have been busy destroying cables and lightships in the Adriatic, and have again bombarded Monfalcone. There has also been some naval activity in the Baltic, Russian and German squadrons exchanging shots in the vicinity of the Gulf of Riga.

Roumania is going through a crisis similar to that experienced by Italy before the latter country entered the war. Those who favor neutrality and those who favor war held counter demonstrations at Bucharest and the political parties are getting into shape to put forward their views. The general opinion held in London is that Roumania will join the allies when Italy gives the word and that Bulgaria will follow its lead.

With the king of Greece suffering a relapse and in a serious condition, no change in the attitude of that country is expected immediately.

The annual memorial services by the local Magnolia camp, No. 8, Woodmen of the World, were held at Miriam cemetery yesterday afternoon in homage to Charles D. Leffler and John Kirch, the two members of the lodge who have died within the last year. The Rev. Lewis M. Hale, pastor of the First Baptist church, delivered the memorial address.

Members of the camp and of the Woodmen Circle, the women's auxiliary, together with the drill team and the Maryville Commercial band, formed at Third and Main streets at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon and paraded to the cemetery.

CROWDED HAINES' STORE

First Anniversary Sale, Advertised Exclusively in Democrat-Forum, Attracts Hundreds of Shoppers.

The first anniversary sale of the Haines store today drew a regular metropolitan bargain sale crowd of eager buyers. For some time before the doors of the store were open women stood in front of the store and waited in neighboring shops. From the opening of the sale at 9 o'clock the sales force was crowded to its capacity.

The sale, which was for today only, marks the first year of the establishment of the store here by Mr. Harvey Haines. It is one of several stores owned by the Haines brothers. It was said by many to have drawn the largest crowd ever seen in Maryville at a special sale. An extra sales force was added to help handle the steady line of buyers. The colors of the store, red and white, predominated in the decorations for the occasion.

Advertising for the Haines store was carried exclusively in The Democrat-Forum. A number of the women carried copies of the large detailed ad which appeared in the Friday issue of The Democrat-Forum.

The growth of the Haines store during its first year has demanded an enlargement of quarters. This week workmen will begin remodeling the west room of the store, which heretofore has been a wareroom, and this will be used exclusively for the ready-to-wear department. The fitting rooms will also be rebuilt. When completed the salesroom of the store will practically be double. Mr. Haines leased the second floor of the building for warerooms and moved the reserve stock there a couple of months ago in anticipation of the remodeling to be done on the main floor.

Mr. Haines traveled extensively through Missouri and Iowa looking over the territory before he decided upon Maryville. This morning, in speaking of his year's residence and business in this city, Mr. Haines says he is more than satisfied that he selected Maryville.

LIKED TOWN; MOVED HERE.

Oklahoma Couple Never Saw Maryville, But Heard It Boasted.

Mr. and Mrs. V. S. Decker of Sapulpa, Okla., had never seen Maryville until they arrived here last Friday, but so well had the town been described to them by former residents that they took a chance and came. Mr. Decker says he is well satisfied. Mr. Decker will return to Oklahoma, where he has oil interests, but Mrs. Decker will remain for her health during the summer.

She has leased apartments in the South Methodist flats.

Service Resumed on Wabash.

The passenger trains, No. 1 and No. 14, on the Wabash, are now running through, No. 14, due here at 9:53 p. m., arriving here last night. No. 1, due here at 6 o'clock, arrived this morning three hours late. These trains had been discontinued for the past ten days, owing to the damage to track and bridges by the high water near Chillicothe.

Joseph Wolfer of Clyde is in Maryville today on business. He is arranging for a Poland-China hog sale to be held early next fall.

PLAN 2 TRIPS TO BOOST GUINEA DAY

CIVIC CLUB ADVERTISES SPECIAL SALES THIS WEEK.

FREE CONCERTS AND SHOWS TO VISITORS

Merchants Will Offer Bargains Beside Entertainment—Tour East Side Wednesday, West Thursday.

The first of the two get-acquainted trips of the Commercial club and merchants over Nodaway county planned for this week, will be taken over the east side of the county Wednesday instead of tomorrow, as first planned, on account of the rain last night. The trips will be especially and primarily to boost Guinea day here Wednesday, June 16, when special sales will be put on by all merchants. It likewise will give the boosters a chance to get acquainted with the county as units and to learn the first names of many of their patrons.

The boosters will leave from in front of the Commercial club room about 9 o'clock Wednesday morning. The first stop will be at Pickering. They will then go, in order, to Hopkins, Gaynor City, Orrsburg, Parnell, Ravenwood, Clyde, Old Conception, Conception Junction, Guilford, Barnard and Arkoe, then home.

They will probably stop at Parnell for lunch. The Maryville Commercial band will accompany the boosters and furnish a short concert at each town while the Maryville patriots will lie themselves around and get acquainted and tell what will be what here on Guinea day, a week later. It is expected that about twenty cars will be in the tour.

On the second day, next Thursday, the trip will be to the westward. Starting at the same time and place as on the initial trip, the Maryville boosters, will go first to Wilcox, then to Clearmont, Elmo, Dawson, Burlington Junction, Quitman, Skidmore, Maitland, Graham and then home.

Dinner will probably taken at Burlington Junction. The band will also be in evidence the second day and music galore will be furnished. The cars each day will be appropriately decorated to advertise "Guinea Day."

Free Attractions, Guinea Day.

It might incidentally be announced too that band concerts will be furnished on the courthouse lawn all that day, and the both the Empire and the Fern theatre will give free shows from 2:30 to 4:30 o'clock that afternoon. Unusually good shows are being arranged for both that afternoon and night.

While the merchants will pay particular attention to dollar sales that day, there also be unusual bargains at all other prices, down to a cent, it is announced. It will be a day, when not only "your dollar does its duty," as the slogan signifies, but every cent as well.

BREAKS LEG IN BALL GAME

Albert Binter, Clyde, Collides With Opponent—Plan Benefit Game for Medical Attention.

While running back to third base after an attempted run home, Albert Binter had both bones of his left leg broken above the knee yesterday afternoon in a collision with Marvel McGary, who was playing third base. The accident occurred during a game between the teams of Clyde and Conception Junction, at Clyde. McGary was playing on the Conception team and Binter for Clyde.

The two teams plan to play a benefit game next Sunday afternoon with which to raise a fund whereby Binter's medical attention might be paid for.

GOING ON SIX.

The Democrat-Forum is now five years old and "going on" six. It came into the world with some discouragements and with heavy burdens, but with a definite determination to be, and to grow up and continue to be, an honest, straightforward newspaper. It has been the purpose of its publishers to make it serve the best interests of the public as they see them. They have no fault to find with those who honestly differ with them, realizing the good that sometimes comes of honest differences of opinion. Thanks to a kind and generous public, it is now a reasonably healthy youngster. It has long since discarded its swaddling clothes and feels its right to be considered in the class with short pants and copper-toed boots. The following tells the story: It began June 4, 1910, with a circulation taken over from the daily Republican of 1,600; in September, 1911, it had 1,920; in September, 1912, it had 2,155; in July, 1913, it had 2,340; in April, 1914, it had 2,678, and in April, 1915, it had enjoyed an average for the previous six months of 3,956.

WORRIES OWNERS OF SILOS.

Peculiar Disease in Silage Causes Farmers to Write to State University for Aid.

For the last three or four years Missouri farmers who own silos have noticed the growth of peculiar red mold in the silage. In some years it has appeared only in small quantities, but in others it has appeared at a depth of as much as fifteen feet and has infected areas two or three feet square, often adhering to the sides of the silos. Several farmers have written to the College of Agriculture of the University of Missouri, asking what the cause of this mold is and what to do to stop its ravages.

Experiments conducted in the laboratory of the department of Botany show that the growth does not occur without the presence of free oxygen. Its occurrence in the lower depth of silos is probably due to the fact that the silage when packed was not sufficiently tramped.

Another factor which has some influence on the presence of molds in silage is that of moisture. Very often silage is put away too dry. Molds develop in much greater abundance where the silage is only slightly moist. The Chinese people use a red fungus—the mold of which corresponds to the red mold of silage—in manufacturing red rice, a substance used as a food coloring and a beverage. The fact that the Chinese do use the pigment in preparing a beverage tends to show that the fungus is not poisonous. Many Missouri farmers thought that the mold was causing death among stock. The mold has appeared in the silage on the farm used by the College of Agriculture, but it is thought that no deaths have occurred among stock because of this growth. The mold has also appeared in other states.

Expert Advice to Automobile Owners.

What is the cause of motors failing to pick up, misfire, etc., after slowing down for a short distance?

Quite often loading up of fuel in the inlet passages causes this condition, but more frequently poor carburetor adjustment. A carburetor, especially one with two jets, can be adjusted for quick pick up.

I have a four cylinder motor in which the crank shaft is slightly out of alignment. Is it practical to use this shaft as it is?

If the crankshaft is out of alignment so that it is noticeable in engine operation, it will pay to have the shaft repaired, if that is possible, or have a new shaft installed. You can overcome the difficulty for awhile by taking up the misalignment in the bearings, but with the crank shaft itself sprung, the trouble will return.

Should the use of hard water, containing lime, in the radiator of a car be avoided?

Water containing lime should be avoided. Use rain water instead. Water with any considerable amount of salts, whether soluble or insoluble, should not be used.

Under ordinary conditions about what length of service in miles should the three speed selective type of gearbox give before needing replacement or becoming excessively noisy?

A gear set usually operates for more than 10,000 miles before it needs attention, and many have been run more than this without requiring more than a change of oil.

When my car is standing and the engine is running with the brakes set there is a knock in the gears. What causes this?

You state that there is a knock in the gears when the motor is running idle, but you do not say whether you mean the timing gears or the gears in the gear box. If it is the timing gears that are making the noise the trouble must be caused either by the gears being loose on their shafts or else the bearings are loose. In order to find where the trouble is it will be necessary to go over the motor. If the knock is in the gears in the gear box it must be caused by loose bearings.

Will you please tell me whether in making connection between two wires it is preferable to splice the wires or loop the ends and hook the loops together?

Splicing the wires has the advantage of making a joint that is compact. Such a joint takes up very little more space than the wire itself, and a spliced joint is also very easy to insulate, as it can be very readily wrapped with tape. This joint makes a good electrical connection and also is more flexible than the loop type. The main advantage of the loop joint is that it is not so easily pulled apart.

Is the amount of current consumed for ignition constant or do different engine speeds or different road conditions cause it to vary?

The consumption of current is proportional to the motor speed. For instance, at 600 revolutions twice as many sparks are required as at 300. However, no more current is required to produce a single spark at 600 or 3,000 for that matter than is required at 300.

My car gives me a lot of trouble through overheating. I am unable to run over eight or ten miles before the water boils in the radiator. The timing is right, the fan works properly, also the pump. There is no obstruction in water lines, and there seems to be nothing wrong in the timing or water circulation. The magneto is advanced as far as possible and I am using a lean mixture. What is the matter?

You have named practically all the conditions that might cause overheating, yet since the trouble is still there it would seem that the search has not been thorough enough. Overheating may be due to a defect in the cooling system, rich mixture, retarded spark, improper lubrication or incorrect valve timing and possibly a slipping clutch or excessive friction in the chassis. Under the first head there are several places where there might be difficulty. First determine that the water is circulating properly by emptying enough water out of the system to uncover the return connection to the top of the radiator. Then with the motor running note whether the water flows freely. If it does not, fill the radiator full of water and run the motor until the water boils. Then feel the various parts of the cooling system, noting the relative temperatures. For instance, if there is an obstruction in the return water header, such as a piece of loose rubber, the water on one side of the obstruction will be hot and on the other cool. Similarly, if the pump is not operating, due to a broken vane or a sheared pin that holds the vane to the shaft, then the return header will be very hot, while the lower part of the radiator and the connection from thence to the pump will be cool. If the radiator is clogged up, the top should be very hot and the bottom cooler than usually. It may be that the fan belt is too loose.

TO SHOW FAR-FAMED COMEDY.

"Tillie's Punctured Romance" Will Be Shown at the Empire Tomorrow Night.

The much exploited Keystone comedy, "Tillie's Punctured Romance," with Marie Dressler taking the leading role, will be shown at the Empire theater tomorrow night. It showed to 40,000 at the Willis Wood, Kansas City, recently. It is a six-reel laugh producer with Charles Chaplin, Mabel Normand and others assisting Miss Dressler.

The picture is beautifully staged. "Tillie's Punctured Romance" tells how Tillie is wooed by Charlie, and is given the mitten in favor of Mabel. When Charlie reads through the death of an uncle, Tillie is heir to three million he encompassed a hasty marriage before Tillie gets the news. Then it develops that the uncle is very much alive.

Before the finish of Charlie all sorts of tempestuous things come to pass. An auto plunges into the ocean, the Keystone cops have the chase of their gay young lives, and Tillie, after several tedious lifts and immersions, is finally landed on the pier. Mabel and Tillie make up, and Charlie is led away to duranceville.

A MISSOURI SETTLEMENT IN WYOMING.

J. A. Carmichael of Dwyer, Wyo., in writing to renew his subscription to The Democrat-Forum, says:

We have many people out here from northwest Missouri, and especially from Nodaway county. The spring has been cool and at times it looked gloomy. On May 18 and 19 it snowed, but soon melted, and on May 20 we had quite a freeze, but nothing was harmed except the early gardens.

We have the best grass this country has had for several years and all kinds of crops look fine. We raise wheat, oats, rye and all small grains that grow in the middle western states. We had a good crop of corn last year and thousands of acres are planted this year and it looks well now.

We now have nearly fifty families in our Missouri settlement and expect seventy-five by fall. There are still some good government claims not taken not far from the railroad and near the timber.

We are located in Platte county. Wheatland is our county seat, a town of 1,200 people, with good schools and churches. We are near Dwyer, a new town on the Colorado & Southern railroad. My domicile is only a half mile from the station. The latch string is on the outside for any Missouri wanderer that may call, and I am always glad to give any information to inquiring friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde C. Trapp and family of Graham left Saturday for a Western visit. They will visit Los Angeles, San Diego, Portland, Seattle, Spokane, Pocatello, Idaho; Salt Lake City, Colorado Springs and Denver. Mrs. Saunders Very Ill.

Mrs. James H. Saunders, who has been seriously ill for several months, has been in a precarious condition since Friday. Her condition today is extremely critical.

To Visit at Pettit Home.

Mrs. J. W. Pettit of San Diego, Cal., who has been visiting relatives in Wisconsin, will arrive in Maryville tonight to visit her son, Roy Pettit, and his wife.

Weather Favors "Ergotism."

That the rainy days of late May and early June have varying results in the world of bugdom and the fungous families is evident from a warning the Missouri State Board of Agriculture waves (in a red flag) on authority of State Veterinarian Dr. D. F. Luckey. Doctor Luckey, now recognized nationally as an expert on the diseases of live stock, (cattle in particular), is always on the alert to protect our stockmen, and on finding the conditions favorable to trouble he pleads for extreme caution in these words:

"The indications are that ergotism may be more or less prevalent among Missouri cattle in the near future. Those who are pasturing grasses of any kind that have headed out mist look out for this trouble. It is most likely to occur on bluegrass pastures especially those where the grass is rank and is forming seed.

"During wet weather, like we have been having, the seed grass is apt to become diseased and develop a fungous growth in the place of the healthy seed. The grains of ergot, when they appear, can be found scattered through the heads of the grass and appear as slender, black bodies—considerably larger than the bluegrass seed. Their discovery in a pasture requires a very close examination.

"A sufficient quantity of ergot taken in with the food causes a contraction of the small arteries and tends to shut off the blood supply to the extremities. Lameness is noticed first. In

NOTICE TO PAYING CONTRACTORS.

Sealed proposals will be received at the office of the city clerk of the city of Maryville, Missouri, until 7:30 o'clock p. m. June 8, 1915, for the grading, paving, guttering, curbing and otherwise improving the following named streets: Thompson, Mulberry and Twelfth, with bituminous concrete pavement and concrete curbs.

The estimated amount of work to be done on Thompson street is as follows:
Excavations, 1,300 cubic yards.
Cement curbing, 2,600 lineal feet.
Cypress headers, 264 lineal feet.
Bituminous concrete paving, 3,940 square yards.

And the estimated amount of work to be done on Mulberry and Twelfth streets is as follows:

Excavation, 1,265 cubic yards.
Cement curbing, 2,600 lineal feet.
Cypress headers, 240 lineal feet.
Bituminous concrete pavement, 3,775 square yards.

A certified check on a Maryville bank for an amount equal to five per cent of the bid, made payable to the city clerk, must accompany the proposal.

Plans and specifications are on file at the offices of the city clerk and the city engineer. Copies of the same and proposal blanks will be furnished to prospective buyers upon application.

F. L. FLYNT,
City Engineer.

the advanced stages, an angry-looking sore appears circling the fetlock. In extreme cases, a toe, or even the whole foot, may break off.

"Those who are pasturing bluegrass, red-top, or other grasses which have headed out, should frequently examine the heads of the grass to ascertain whether the ergot is developing. Watch cattle and other animals closely for symptoms of lameness. On the first appearance of any lameness, change the animals to another pasture.

"Run a mower over the pasture and keep stock off of it until a new growth of grass comes out where the cattle can get it without eating the heads that have been cut down. If the rainy weather continues, this trouble is almost sure to occur in a large number of pastures and it will pay well to run a mower over the grass, cutting off the heads, before the ergot is formed. This will be almost necessary where only one pasture is available.

If ergotism appears in a herd, promptly move the stock and give each animal a full dose of purgative. For cattle, use epsom salts, giving mature animals one and one-half to two pounds, and to yearlings three-fourths of a pound. Dissolve the salts in a liberal quantity of water."

How are platinum points fastened to screws of a magnet?

One method is to hard solder the points in place. The first step is to cut two small slots at right angles in the end of the two members carrying the points. Then by the aid of the brass solder the points are fastened in place.

Kindly tell me something about long and short intake manifolds. Which is the better?

The short manifold usually is better, showing superior results at low speeds with wide open throttle and equally good results at high speeds. When the throttle is wide open at low speeds, a condition existing when the car is on a heavy pull, the liquid gasoline in the manifold must be lifted a greater height in the long manifold, and hence there is a chance of loading up, due to the liquid fuel dropping back against the throttle. The condition really is caused by the air velocity being insufficient to carry the fuel to the motor. With a short manifold the fuel need not be lifted very high, and hence there will be no loading up or collecting of gasoline in the manifold.

What is the life of the average storage battery when used for starting?

A starting and lighting battery will last for three to four years, if properly cared for. Each year the battery will need new separators.

How can I change a low compression motor to a high compression one?

The compression may be raised by several methods. It is hardly advisable to make this change, because your motor has been designed for a certain compression, and if you raise it, say ten pounds, you will subvert the cylinders to a greater strain than they were designed for, the pressures on the cylinder walls will be greater and the wear on the bearings more. If your motor is not giving sufficient power you should find out what is the matter with it rather than raise the compression.

Probably the best method is to rivet a plate to the top of the piston or the cylinder, whichever is more convenient. Placing the plate on the piston adds weight to the reciprocating masses, while if it is attached to the cylinder head there is danger of interference with the flow of the gases in and out. In either case be sure that there is clearance enough between the piston and the cylinder to allow the plate to be put into place. If the plate is attached to the piston it should be made of aluminum for the sake of lightness.

Lengthening the connecting rods or increasing the crankshaft throws will also increase the compression. But neither of these methods is as simple or as cheap as the first one suggested.

Expert Advice to Automobile Owners.

My car begins to lag when about half way up a hill. Does the wanting position of the car interfere with a proper supply of gasoline to the carburetor?

It is not likely that your trouble is due to the position of the tank, but it is probably caused by dirt in the feed pipe. The dirt does not prevent the flow entirely, but reduces it so that not enough gasoline is supplied to the float chamber to satisfy the extra demand put upon the car when it is climbing a hill. Disconnect the feed pipe at the carburetor and note whether the flow is free; if not, remove the pipe and clean it with a wire. If the trouble still persists adjust the carburetor to give a richer mixture.

The gasoline flow, due to the low position of the tank, should not be affected except on a steep hill. If you feel, however, that the flow is not sufficient you might install a tank holding about a pint directly in front and slightly above the carburetor. This tank is merely connected in the line, has no valves and is only a reservoir, but with sufficient capacity to carry the car over the longest hills, even though the supply of fuel were cut off.

Can you give me some information as to automobile valve timing?

The timing of a motor depends on whether the greatest torque or twisting effort is wanted at low or high speeds and whether it is desirable to have a silent motor. For instance, if a motor with a particularly good torque at low speed is wanted, then the exhaust opening should be delayed more than usual so that the expansive force of the gas will be exerted to the utmost. On the other hand, if the motor is to develop a maximum torque at a high speed it is better to open the exhaust valve earlier so as to give the gas plenty of time to flow out. This reduction in back pressure due to this more than compensates for the small amount of expansive energy that is thus thrown away.

Exhaust closure should occur at dead center or slightly after. On a slow speed motor it would be all right to close the exhaust valve right on dead center, but if this were done on a motor that had a maximum speed of say 2,000 revolutions or more the scavenging of the cylinder would not be as complete as if the closing were delayed a few degrees. The reason for this is simple. When the gas is flowing out through the exhaust valve at the high speed that is obtained when the motor is running at this rate it has a perceptible amount of momentum, although its actual mass is very small. Therefore the tendency is for the column of gas to keep on flowing when the piston reaches upper dead center. This action naturally helps to suck out a little gas after the piston has ceased to force it out.

The opening of the inlet valve should take place shortly after the exhaust valve closes, its exact point of opening depending on whether the designer considers it best to begin to fill the cylinder with a rush. In the former case the valve is made to open at about top dead center, and in the latter case the opening is delayed possibly as much as twenty degrees. If the opening is delayed a partial vacuum is formed in the cylinder, due to the fact that the piston moves out and expands the gas below atmosphere. Then when the inlet valve is finally opened the charge rushes in to fill this vacuum. This action is believed to give better carburetion by a great many designers. The closing of the intake valve, just as in the case of the exhaust, depends on the speed of the motor. If the momentum of the column of rushing gas is to be considered then the opening is delayed so that the gas, instead of instantly stopping its flow when the piston reaches bottom center, keeps on flowing, due to its inertia, and in this way crowds in a bigger charge. If a good power output at high speed is to be obtained then the closure of the intake must be delayed a few degrees.

WILSON WILL NOT MODIFY STAND

President to Leave No Room to Doubt Meaning of Note.

MAY HAVE A Milder TONE.

Delays Cabling of Reply to Germany In Order to Make Its Contents Most Explicit—Germans Believe Way Opened For Understanding.

Washington, June 7.—President Wilson's note to Germany will be cabled to Ambassador Gerard tomorrow, according to word from the White House. The only reason for the delay, it was said, was the president's desire to make the phraseology of the note so explicit and unmistakable as to leave no room for doubt or further argument concerning the position of the United States government—that the right of search must be exercised and passengers and crew of unarmed ships on which neutrals are voyaging transferred to a place of safety before any prize is destroyed by a belligerent warship.

Officials familiar with the contents of the note and said it was a forceful reiteration of the principles expressed by the United States in its note of Feb. 10, when the American government announced that it could not admit the right of the German admiralty's proclamation of a war zone to infringe in any way upon the right of neutrals to travel anywhere on the high seas on peaceful merchantmen and that the German government would be held to a "strict accountability" for any violations of American rights.

May Have Milder Tone.

Suggestions have been made to the president that the recent note from Germany offering regrets and reparation for the torpedoing by mistake of the Gulfight be cited in the note as proof of the American contention that without visit and search the identity of a vessel cannot be established and the lives of neutrals safeguarded.

The commander of the German submarine which attacked the Gulfight reported that he did not see the American flag until the moment of firing the shot. Whether this idea will be included is not known.

In German quarters the optimism which has been apparent since Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, talked with President Wilson continues, the impression being given that the road to an understanding was much clearer than it had been since the Lusitania was destroyed.

CHICAGO STRIKE TO END

Carpenters and Contractors Agree to Arbitrate.

Chicago, June 7.—The settlement of the strike of 16,000 carpenters will be left to an arbitrator.

In response to Mayor Thompson's letter, the executive committee of the Carpenter Contractors' association notified him that that organization is willing to leave the dispute to a committee of arbitration, each side to select one member of a committee and the two members to select a third member.

President Metz and other officials of the carpenters' district council announced that they were in favor of leaving the points in dispute—the wage scale, the expiration of agreement and the question of the importation of material—to an arbitration committee.

DANGER OF TYPHOID FEVER

M. U. Professor Says Recent Floods and Hot Season Make Precautions Necessary.

The floods which have recently done so much damage in various parts of Missouri will increase the danger of typhoid fever, which has been quite prevalent in Missouri for the last two years, according to Doctor M. P. Ravenel, professor of bacteriology and preventive medicine at the University of Missouri.

Doctor Ravenel also says that the season when typhoid is prevalent is coming on, and he warns everyone to take precaution against this disease. "Typhoid fever is always caused by carelessness or negligence in regard to the disposal of sewage from human beings," said Doctor Ravenel. "It is everywhere a disease for the health authorities to deal with, and prevent by insuring a pure water supply and the proper disposal of the sewage."

However, we have another safeguard which has given remarkable results—anti-typhoid vaccination. This consists of three injections which are given at intervals of ten days. There is but little discomfort attending the injections and the protection is almost absolute. In the United States Army last year, consisting of more than 90,000 men, there was only one case of typhoid in a vaccinated soldier and in our army and navy, consisting of practically 130,000 men, there were only nine cases of typhoid fever in 1913, a result which has not been attained anywhere else in the world. Several of these cases have occurred in the recruits who had not yet completed their vaccination. The vaccine is manufactured and standardized in the laboratories of the Department of Preventive Medicine of the University of Missouri, and is sent free to any registered physician in the state. Directions are sent with each package.
